Pick Up Tradition of eating horsemeat

The Fuji Five Lakes area, including Fujikawaguchiko Town, has a long tradition of eating horse meat. Speaking of horses, it is held at Fuji-Omuro-Sengenjinja Shrine in Katsuyama district every April "Kai no Katsuyama Yabusame Matsuri". It is said that it was dedicated in the riding ground of Mount Fuji in old days. This area is the base of Mt. Fuji worship. Horses were very useful for climbers to carry bags.

Even now, the townspeople love horse meat. In butcher shops, Basashi (horse meat sashimi) is lined up, and eaten as a little luxury at celebrations or parties. There are also many restaurants that serves local gourmet called "Yoshida no udon" (noodle (Introduced on page 11.). These noodles are often topped with salty-sweet stewed horse meat. Horse tripe are also very popular among the townspeople. When you order "Motsuni (Japanese tripe stew)" at Japanese pubs, they often serve horsemeat.

Horsemeat has less smell and is easy to eat, and is low in calories and high in protein. It is also rich in iron. If you visit Fujikawaguchiko town, please try it once.

HOTO & UDON

(Local style noodles)

Hoto is a traditional local dish representative of Yamanashi in which plain noodles are cooked with miso-based soup and seasonal vegetables. It is a dish we highly recommend. And don't forget to try "Yoshida-no-udon" in the Fuji Five Lakes area, including Fujikawaguchiko Town. It features noodles that are strong in texture and miso or soy sauce-based soup. It is particularly popular among people in this town.

Flour food culture in Fujikawaguchiko Town

In Fujikawaguchiko town, upland farming has developed rather than rice cultivation. For this reason, flour foods such as "Hoto" and udon noodle have long taken root.

In the past, udon was a sacred thing to eat at ceremonial occasions. In the Showa era, in the Fujiyoshida city where the textile industry developed, people can enjoy a bowl of udon as a convenient lunch during work. These are the roots of today's "Yoshida-udon". After the war, many udon shops opened in the Fuji Five Lakes area.

On the other hand, hoto was eaten as daily dinner in the past. Add noodles and vegetables such as root vegetables, potatoes, mushrooms to the soup stock, and add the taste with miso. People shared it with their family and cultivate vitality for tomorrow.

Even nowadays, udon is loved by people as a lunch to eat between work and hoto is a home taste that everyone can enjoy.

YAKINIKU

(Korean BBQ),

Chinese food, Asian food

If you are a meat lover, we suggest you visit the local yakiniku restaurant. You can enjoy delicious beef and chicken. In addition, there are restaurants that serve Japanese cuisine made from beef or pork innards referred to as hormone. Also, there are Chinese restaurants famous for tasty Chinese cuisine and ramen and Indian restaurants that serve a selection of spicy curries.

Western style food, Italian, French

There are a variety of restaurants that offer Western cuisine, from authentic to casual style. There is a French restaurant where you can enjoy a full-course meal that use local ingredients and an Italian restaurant where you can eat pasta and pizzas with the freshest of ingredients. You may also wish to visit some of the many restaurants that serve steak and barbecues where you can enjoy tender, juicy meat and unique Mexican cuisine.

MUST SEE!

"Saiko Iyashi no Sato Nemba"

"Saiko Iyashi no Sato Nemba" is where you can experience the diverse culture of Fuji-Kawaguchiko Town. It reproduces the thatched roof (a roof covered in grass) village that was washed away by the typhoon disaster in 1966, and opened in 2006. The 20 thatched houses are a facility where you can discover and experience various things, where you can play with old playthings.

Of course, there are also facilities where you can experience food culture. "Tokusanhin kakojo (specialty processing plant)" sells ancient rice, pickles, miso and other specialties from Fujikawaguchiko town. If you're hungry, visit "Shokujidokoro Satoyama"

"Handmade Soba Mizumo" and "Meals&Sweets Saiun". You can spend a wonderful day relaxing in the thatched roof village and the scenery of Mt. Fuji.

Pick Up Local sake and beer using wonderful water in Fujikawaguchiko

The snow that has accumulated on Mt. Fuji permeates the ground over a long period of time, and eventually reaches Fujikawaguchiko town as underground water and spring water. Let me introduce you to the local sake and local beer using the water.

“Kai-no-Kaiun” from the Edo era

The Ide Brewery, which has been in business for more than 300 years, began producing sake at the end of the Edo period around 1850. The tradition has been passed down to the present head, the 21st Ide Yogoemon. Enjoy the clear water of Mt. Fuji and the fine sake brewed in the severe cold of 850m above sea level.

● Facility Data...Ide Brewery

[Address] 8 Funatsu, Fujikawaguchiko-town [Phone number] 0555-72-0006

Fragrant craft beer “Fujizakura-kogen-beer”

In 1997, Fujizakura-kogen-beer was made at a brewery in a forest at an altitude of 1000 meters. It is brewed using selected ingredients and high quality water from Mt. Fuji, with German technology. This beer has been highly evaluated in many beer contests.

Enjoy the four seasons in Fujikawaguchiko and Mt. Fuji!

Spring Cherry blossoms are a symbol of the end of the long winter in Fujikawaguchiko. Due to its high altitude, its flowering is slower than in other parts of Japan, but you can enjoy the view of Mt. Fuji and cherry blossoms from various places in the town.

● Spring Event Information

Fuji-Kawaguchiko Sakura Festival (early to mid-April)
*Cancelled in 2020
Kai-no-Katsuyama Yabusame Festival (April 29) *Cancelled in 2020
Fujizakura Cherry Blossom and Mitsuba-Tsutsuji Azalea Festival (Late April - early May)

Autumn In November, autumn leaves spread from Lake Motosuko and Lake Shojiko to Lake Saiko and Lake Kawaguchiko, and the lakeside is brightly colored red and yellow. It is also in this season that Mt. Ashiwada is crowded with climbers.

● Autumn Event Information

Fuji Sanroku Trail Run (late September or early October)
Fujisan Genshirin Trail Run (3rd Sunday in October)
Fujikawaguchiko Momiji March (Exercise walking event) (Mid-October)
Fujikawaguchiko Autumn Leaves Festival (early to mid-November)
Mt. Fuji Marathon (last Sunday in November)

● Inquiry...Fujikawaguchiko Town Office Tourism Division

[Address] 1700 Funatsu, Fujikawaguchiko Town [Phone number] 0555-72-3168

Summer Lavender colors Lake Kawaguchiko gorgeously in summer. You can enjoy beautiful flowers mainly in Yagizaki Park and Oishi Park. Every year from late June to mid-July, the “Kawaguchiko Herb Festival” is held.

● Summer Event Information

Saiko Road Race (3rd Sunday in June)
Lake Saiko Ryugusai Festival (Aug. 2), Lake Motosuko Shinkosai Festival (Aug. 3), Lake Shojiko Ryokosai Festival and Music Festival (Aug. 4)
Lake Kawaguchiko Kojosai Festival (August 5)
Mt. Fuji Kawaguchiko Music Festival (mid-August)

Winter It is only in winter that you can see Mt. Fuji covered with snow in the clear air. It is very cold in the morning and at night, but why not enjoy Mt. Fuji while enjoying the hot springs in the town?

● Winter Event Information

Kawaguchiko Winter Fireworks (Sat and Sun from mid-January to late February)
Saiko Ice Festival (Late January - early February)
“Mt. Fuji Day” Commemorative Event (February 23)

Japanese pub, bar

If you stay in the town make sure to visit a Japanese style pub or bar. You can enjoy your favorite alcohol, such as beer, Japanese sake or shochu, with delicious appetizers such as yakitori, oden and sashimi. There are also bars that specialize in cocktails and wine, pubs with a distinct local atmosphere, and pubs that have an extensive selection of dishes. We hope you have a night to remember.
